Preview Testbed

Description

The preview testbed is a system where JRA1 developers can expose early versions of middleware to users to get early feedback on the matching with the requirements. This testbed is based on the current version of the middleware deployed on the PPS plus single components deployed by JRA1 developers as agreed with the TCG. This is not a system intended to bypass the integration and certification process. Currently it is deployed in sites that are already involved with the development but with significant know-how on site management.

Since this activity was not foreseen in the EGEE II proposal there are no official resources devoted to this. The support (hardware and manpower) is provided by the partners involved in JRA1 without compromising their commitments in SA1.
