Table of Contents

EET computing infrastructure........................................................................................................................1
EET computing infrastructure

The EN-STI group has the following computing and tools infrastructure

- LinuxCluster: info about the EET Linux Cluster
- DocStone: project management tool
- EETSysAdmin: info for EET system administrators (restricted area)