The Central Services at CERN

CERN Computing Rules

The use of CERN's computers, networks and related services, such as e-mail, are governed by detailed CERN Computing Rules. In order to use the CERN Computing Facilities you must follow carefully these rules ↗.

Linux Central service (Ixplus)

The Linux CERN central services are documents at the Linux ↗ web site. The current Linux operating system supported is called Scientific Linux 3 and is there is all information needed to install it and update it on the SLC3 section of the Linux site ↗.

Windows Central Services (nice)

The Windows CERN central services are documented at the WinServices web site ↗.

Mail Services

The Mail Services can be accessed via a web Browser at the MMM Services ↗ web site. There is also the description on how to correctly configure you mail client ↗.
