Mandate of TOPLHCWG subgroup contacts

The subgroup contacts are responsible for providing the combination and the relevant documentation for a certain measurement, becoming then temporary members of the group for the necessary period. The tasks includes organising discussions about those specific analyses areas, in view of understanding differences and similarities in procedures, with the aim of converging on common methods when relevant for the combination.

They are expected to keep full confidentiality of the not public information discussed within the working group. At the same time, they should verify with the top group conveners of their respective experiment whether it is appropriate to disclose ongoing internal studies to the working group. They should inform the LHCTopWG contacts and top conveners if they see the need to organise a meeting including people who are not current members of the working group.
