Question

I attached a file to a Twiki page, then deleted it, which worked.

I attached a corrected version of it, with same name, which worked.

Now I want to delete that second file, but since it has the same name as the first one, I fail.

How can I do that?

A deleted attachment is place din the Trash and deleting another attachment with the same name causes a conflict. This issue is solved with the new version of TWiki which will be out soon. In the meantime we purge the Trash regularly.

Please send me the name of the attachment in question and I will dealt with it.
