MILESTONE REPORT

EMI plans to have a baseline reference release per year to introduce the major functionality changes and improvements foreseen by the EMI Technical Development Plans [R1, R2, R3].

The EMI 3 (Monte Bianco) release provides new services and functionality that increase the integration among its components and enhance the efficiency of distributed research infrastructures through improved security features, more dynamic information services and increased standardization.

The new functionality includes:

- the new EMI Security Token Service (STS) that eases the use of x509-based infrastructures for end-users; wider adoption of the Common Authentication Library (CANL),
- Implementation of the EMI ES specifications across all compute element services,
- consistent support for secure HTTP access in preparation of EMI HTTP federation service; adoption of StAR specifications,
- Improved version of the EMIR service registry with all EMI services being able to send registration records,
- full set of NAGIOS probes for all supported services,
- completion of the messaging-based (SSM2) accounting probes for EMI CEs and SEs supporting CAR and StAR standard accounting record formats

All released services are available for the Scientific Linux 5 64 bit and Scientific Linux 6 64 bit platforms. A subset of EMI 3 services is also available for the Debian 6 64bit platforms.

The EMI 3 activity is described in detail into a dedicated twiki page [R4] containing information on:

- EMI 3 Schedule with dates for code freeze,
- certification, deployment on the EMI testbed, QC verification
- Components Releases tasks status
- EMI 3 general policies – containing information on the release process applied to EMI releases
- Supported platforms
- ETICS EMI-project configurations containing:
  - definition of each release candidate step;
  - nightly-builds schedule and results
- Acceptance Criteria for judging the inclusion or exclusion of a product in the EMI 3 release

The EMI EMT twiki page [R5] contains, not only links to the EMT meetings and corresponding minutes, but also links to general EMI documentation like:

- Generic Installation & Configuration for EMI 3 [R6]
- EMI package signing procedure [R7]

The operational and infrastructural resources used consist of:

- emi-announce mailing list [R8]
- RSS-feed on the EMI public web page [R9]

EMI 3 artefacts are available on the EMI public repository [R10]; it contains

- 50 Products from ARC, dCache, gLite, UNICORE
- 480 (SL5), 474 (SL6), 230 (Deb6) EMI packages
- 74 (SL5), 67 (SL6), 24 (Deb6) external dependencies managed by EMI
- 100% of RPMS
- 99% of SRPMS

See Figure 1 EMI 3 repository view.

The screenshot shows the EMI Software Repository website. The header includes the EMI logo and the text "EMI Software Repository". A navigation menu on the left lists "About EMI", "Documentation", "Support", "Mailing list", and "News". The main content area is titled "Welcome to the EMI Software Repository" and contains a description of EMI as a collaboration of European providers. Below this, there is a section for "Latest Supported Releases" with a table for "EMI 3 (Monte Bianco)".

The milestone was planned for the end of February 2013. The slight delay in delivering the EMI 3 release was mainly due to the small delay in achieving the step regarding the final tagged configurations containing fixes for issues found during the testing phase, and provisioning of the integration and standard conformance test reports.

The reasons behind the exclusion of the ARGUS-EES, CREAM products and HYDRA were the delays in the certification of these products that caused also a delay in their deployment on the EMI testbed. They will be provided with one of the first EMI 3 Updates, once complete testing will be finished and adequate reports will be provided.

Technical details can be found at the dedicated “EMI 3 Activity” twiki page [R4] used to share important information with all developers and keep every project member updated on the EMI 3 procedures, status, achievements, and issues.

Annex A contains the acceptance criteria status table with the main reasons for the failing components. Both annexes contain data as of 11.03.2013, the release date of EMI 3.

Annex B has the list of EMI 3 produced artifacts and their build status.

ANNEX A: EMI 3 – Acceptance Criteria status

The acceptance criteria are the conditions by which a Product is considered ready or not for inclusion in an EMI release. The criteria can be "exclusive" or "inclusive". Failing an exclusive criterion causes exclusion from the release, failing an inclusive criterion doesn't cause exclusion from the release, but the Product is marked as not fully compliant with the release criteria. The exclusive criteria are marked in gray in the table. Refer to the legend for an explanation of the color-coding.

GREEN	OK
YELLOW	Failed, but an alternative exists (for example documentation is not PDF, but another usable format is provided as a temporary workaround)
RED	Failed
